RK&O has particular expertise in structuring complex joint ventures and investment vehicles with multiple financial investors. Our extensive representation of hedge fund clients and investment banks has given us a unique understanding of their particular issues, needs and objectives, including the need for aligned incentives, liquidity, risk management, tax efficiency and conflict resolution. This understanding, coupled with commercial common sense, has allowed us to successfully structure business arrangements among various sophisticated investors with seemingly irreconcilable issues and objectives.

Our representations include joint ventures and structured investments in domestic and offshore finance companies, real estate development projects and reinsurance companies, and in vehicles designed to acquire loans, energy assets and pharmaceutical products.
